Dear Mr. Manzon:

I am writing you at the suggestion of my associate, Dominique Motte, with a view to arranging an association between our worldwide companies and Pele.

We have had a very frustrating year and a half or so with Mr. Pele. Our representatives have met with him in New York, Los Angeles and Paris, and I myself spoke with him in Montreal. We have met with all sorts of people purporting to be his advisors, friends, business associates and the like. In particular, one gentleman that we met in Paris whose name was Senor Affonso Splendore, gave us a verbal agreement that everything was all right and they would sign and send the contract back to us. Enclosed is the contract that we went over with him and his representatives in Paris and which was more or less agreed to.

Despite repeated assurances that we would be hearing from them and we would get together to finalize everything, we continue to hear nothing.

We have spent a lot of money on interpretators, telephone calls, travel, telexes and the like, and still have had no communication whatsoever.
